Alexander Skarsgard, Ellen Page, and Patricia Clarkson along with the cast of "The East" enjoyed their post wrap dinner at New York hotspot Stanton Social.

Their party of 15 ordered a variety of Stanton Social's favorites including the Red Snapper Tacos, Vegan Tacos, Potato & Goat Cheese Pierogies, Smoked Duck & Baby Kale Salad, Wok Charred Edamame, Beef Carpaccio, Spicy Lamb Souvlakis, Vegan Spaghetti Squash, Shrimp & Grits, Kobe Sliders, California Style 'Veggie Burger', Sriracha Pea Crusted Salmon, Grilled Asparagus, Herb Dusted Frites, Miso Glased Mushrooms, and Pan Toasted Spaghetti Squash.

While a majority of the party was enjoying the gluten free and vegan options that Stanton Social has to offer, Skarsgard was "all about the meat and beer." He lightly flirted with his waitress pointing at his Brooklyn Lager and joking, "Miss, could you bring me another fine brew just like this one?"

Skarsgard, always with a beer in hand, had a great time joking with castmates, eating, and dancing.

When Stanton Social's resident DJ Omari Toomer starting playing in the lounge upstairs, "The East" party begun dancing in their seats and told their waitress that they were tempted to come back after their wrap party because they were such fans of Toomer. Skarsgard and two others from the party stayed long after the other castmates left to enjoy the music, the vibe, and "one last brew"
